Almost anyone can learn to soar.

Instruction is free for London Soaring Club members in good standing. Our fully qualified and licenced instructors will help you progress at your own pace. It usually takes between 40 to 60 training flights to fly solo for the first time. You may then proceed with obtaining your Transport Canada Glider Pilot's Licence. People with prior experience in powered aircraft can make the transition to gliders with minimal re-training. Please visit www.londonsoaringclub.ca for more information.
